Greetings from Suzanne,

Wow! What a great start to the New Year! Our members thoroughly enjoyed the activities and getting to know each other as they participated in either the Crochet a Beaded Necklace activity presented by Carol Bingaman, or the hands-on demonstration of Warping and Weaving Bead Leno presented by Maggie Aguirre. As I was crocheting my beads, I kept hearing "This is really fun, It goes so fast," or "These colors are really nice together." Carol did warn us though that it could be addicting. And then she followed up with an email of the sources for the necklaces, including The Bead Factory in LA that would make a fun field trip for anyone wanting to get some beads.

Maggie demonstrated bead leno, and the participants were surprised to learn that gorgeous items can easily be woven on a 4-shaft loom. Some members gave weaving it a try and all were oohing and aahing over the beautiful samples she brought in.

It's mid-January, and I'm finally settling into a routine again with my weaving. I have a few UFO (unfinished objects) that need my attention and have a few rigid heddle scarves planned, using my STASH and some yarns I bought at Village Spinning and Weaving with gift money.

I hope to get some new ideas from the upcoming February program, Have Loom, Will Travel presented by Suzanne Schmutzler.

February is an even month, so please support the guild raffle by donating and/or buying tickets for the items of your choice. The proceeds from the raffle are designated to paying for our catered June Luncheon and Fashion Show.

Keep on weaving!

Suzanne
